Simplified Predictable and Aesthetic Composite Restorations

HANDS-ON WORKSHOP

presented by Dr Selena Liu | Dr Amy Calvin

FRI
OCT 10

This 2-day program provides a structured and clinically oriented approach to direct composite restorations, delivered over two full days of learning. It focuses on techniques that are simplified and predictable to achieve aesthetic, functional, and durable composite restorations through a streamlined and methodical approach. With the increasing demand for conservative and aesthetic outcomes, the course is designed to equip dental professionals with the skills and knowledge necessary to perform both anterior and posterior composite restorations with confidence and efficiency. Both Class II and Class IV restorations will be completed in the hands-on component and the concepts will have broad applications in clinical practice.

Restorative Management Strategies for the Geriatric Patient

presented by Professor Ian Meyers

SAT
OCT 11

This workshop will look at a range of traditional, and not so traditional approaches to restorative management of the ageing dentition. The workshop will also provide participants with hands-on exercises on minimally invasive conservative restorative techniques that provide cost effective and efficient options for managing the older patient.

A Simplified Approach to Natural Aesthetics

presented by Dr RL Halili-Castillo

WED
NOV 5

This hands-on workshop offers a simplified, practical approach to achieving natural aesthetics with composite restorations. Participants will learn effective techniques for shade selection, layering, and sculpting that replicate the natural tooth anatomy with ease and efficiency. The session will also cover key clinical tips to optimise handling, reduce common errors, and ensure long-lasting, aesthetic results—helping clinicians deliver beautiful restorations while minimising chair time.
